Effective as of July 27, 2023

Airtight, unbreakable containers were the invention of chemist Earl Tupper in 1946. They were found in a local hardware store by a friend of Brownie Wise who shared them with her. Immediately she thought they were amazing products and pioneered sharing Tupperware with others through the Tupperware Home Party. Her journey led her to become the first female executive and the first woman featured on the cover of Business Week magazine. The knowledge she passed along to thousands of other women, made Tupperware into the company it is today. She believed in herself, and in the power that lies within each person to write their own story.

PARTY TIPS

3 TIPS TO ENSURE HOSTS AND CUSTOMERS WILL RETURN TO YOU:

- ➡ When they learn, they return. Bring a few fun facts or tips to your parties to go along with your demo. Think "Did you know?" (Example: To keep potatoes from sprouting, place an apple with the potatoes and store in a cool dry place.)
- ➡ Always leave them wanting more. Bring up another "Did you know?" but don't tell them the answer. Tell guests you'll let them know the next time you get together. 😊
- ➡ Have fun. Be authentic and be real. When you're you, it shows.

Not only will your customers and hosts appreciate your passion and knowledge, but they will also come back to support your Tupperware business.

HOWEVER YOU PARTY, JUST PARTY!

Parties serve as the foundation for building a robust Tupperware business. They contribute to increased sales and expanded networks, potentially resulting in fresh bookings in your calendar and new additions to your own Tupperware team. The best part is you have the freedom to customize your parties to suit your preferences and your hosts as well, whether that be hosting them in-person, virtual, showcasing a cooking demonstration, custom kitchen planning or even passing out catalogs to collect orders. Sharing the products you love with customers or groups of people is simply a party.

IN-PERSON OR IN-HOME PARTY

Within the comfort of their own home or desired location, hosts will invite guests for an intimate hands-on experience where they will learn about the features and benefits of Tupperware® products. It's an opportunity to engage in conversations, try out recipes and products, ask questions and have fun!

VIRTUAL PARTY

Facebook parties, Messenger parties, WhatsApp parties, and other forms of social media platforms are all virtual party possibilities where hosts and guests will learn about the features and benefits of Tupperware® products, just virtually through videos and live segments. Virtual parties offer the advantage for those with friends and family who live at a distance. Party anywhere, anytime. You're in control.

CULINARY EXPERIENCE PARTY

A Culinary Experience party is a great option for hosts and guests to showcase cooking techniques, delicious family recipes that you love and of course Tupperware® products. These parties are entertaining for everyone involved and aim to inspire guests to utilize their new Tupperware® products and recipes in their own kitchen. Most importantly, guests will get to taste the creations. You can also party virtually utilizing your social media with cooking segments, where it's your own cooking show.

CUSTOM KITCHEN PLANNING

Tupperware Custom Kitchen Planning is a unique opportunity for guests to learn the ins and outs of kitchen organization and storage solutions. From maximizing storage and pantry solutions using Modular Mates® Containers, to also decluttering countertops and refrigerators using FridgeSmart®. All of which enhance their cooking experience, saving time, reducing waste and maintaining a clutter-free kitchen environment. We have many different product lines that offer solutions for everyone.

CATALOG PARTY

Hosts and guests can learn more about Tupperware thru passing around the seasonal catalog, the monthly sales brochure, and of course the link to your personal website. A Catalog Party can also be a virtual party by sending a link to the catalog and your personal website. This is another great opportunity to meet new Customers, even if not in person or virtually.

“For 34 years, I have been blessed to work Tupperware, making a full-time income while keeping my family priority number one. It truly is a natural fit. I was always able to make Tupperware work for what I needed it to be for me, through all life’s stages. My favorite way to hold parties will always be in person, where we can laugh with friends, enjoy tasty treats, and discover new and classic Tupperware® products. The great versatility of holding online parties for hosts who have friends and family at a distance is a fantastic option as well! The high quality of Tupperware® products have always made them easy to sell. With Tupperware being a product that everybody knows and loves, it definitely is a comfortable way of having a side hustle. So many of my customers, hosts, and team members have turned into friends, who have cheered me on through life. I am so grateful for the day that I decided to give Tupperware a try.”

“I started with Tupperware in 2006. I was a primary school teacher and wanted to travel and discover the world, without going into debt. I said yes to Tupperware because it’s a trusted, recognized company. After 6 years part-time and 3 trips to other countries, I decided to go full-time. I quit my job to enter the business world.

I’m proud of my risky decision 11 years ago. Tupperware is an extraordinary company and now, I’m on my way to financial independence.

What I love the most is feeling how we make a difference in people’s lives. Our parties create joy and people have fun, we help them to cook quickly and simply and to save money on groceries.

Be active every day! It takes time, perseverance and discipline to build a prosperous business. I often compare myself to bamboo: you don’t see it grow for 5 years but it’s taking root. In the 5th year, it grows to be 40 ft. tall in 90 days. If I had ever given up, my life wouldn’t be the marvelous adventure that it is.
